

Have you ever thought about Vietnam? or Holiday in Vietnam? Keep thinking about that and I will help you with your troubles. Although apparently, she is much a Westernized country, Vietnam, in her very heart, still remains a land of the East with all the aspects and colors typical of her people, in sharp contrast with her friendly neighbors. With Ho Chi Minh as her biggest - a very alluring and attractive city; with her resort centers in the highlands endowed with a healthy climate, with her splendid sand beaches along her shores, with her old capital of Hue - the city with a romantic past, with her green jungle abounding in big game, and with so many other places offering a magnificent scenery. Vietnam is now a center of tourism for thousands of visitors from the Pacific Ocean's area. So, did you inform some ideas about holiday in Vietnam? Ok next, Vietnam open her gates for all tourist who want to see new places and exotic lands in Southeast Asia. So now you got some information and decide to make holiday in Vietnam.

Here are a few Vietnam travel tips after you have already visa to Vietnam.

1. When you go shopping at Big C supermarket or buy souvenirs at Ben Thanh market, you should bargain for everything and convert carefully. You can ask for half of the total price that the sellers give you and do not worry about how they feel.
2. The trick to crossing the road is to stay aware, walk slowly and confidently. The motorbike riders are exceptionally good and will simply move to avoid you - just don't make any sudden lurches forwards, backwards, or stop for that matter! Just look for a gap in the traffic, and begin a slow but steady movement.
3. Never trust the taxi drivers in Vietnam. Always check the map first and show the map to the taxi drivers. It costs you 12,000 VND for the first kilometer and 10,000 VND for the next kilometers.
4. Try to say; "no, thank you" with someone who tries to sell you something you do not want. Just say "Khong, cam on" and be friendly and walk very fast. These are some Vietnam travel tip that I would like to offer you and hope that you will have a great tour in Vietnam.
